

Dear Sirs:

I am a satellite radio subscriber and i highly value this service for me personally. This is a paid subscriber service, therefore i don't believe that the National Association of Broadcasters has any relevant influence on the programming that I pay for. Quite the contrary with respect to public and free radio transmission where their influence is relevant to free public radio. One of the reasons that i subscribe to satellite radio is for the traffic and information that i can access as i travel. I don't feel that it is up to the NAB to try to influence what i receive in terms of service that I pay for. If they pay for my service then they have the right to speak for me, and since not, they have no relevance towards this service in my opinion.

Respectfully

Troy Baca
